Subject: Reference Letter for Saumitra Panchal at Darwinbox

To whom it may concern,

Saumitra was hired by Darwinbox on 13-09-2021 and currently works as a 'Technical Consultant – Integrations.' He initially joined Darwinbox as a Business Analyst in the Automation department but later transitioned to a new role of 'Data Lead - Center of Excellence'. In this capacity, he served as the process lead and made significant contributions, including the development of a web application that enhances the efficiency of client-facing teams during client data migration.

Saumitra Panchal's duties and responsibilities included:

1. Developing a web application using Django and the Streamlit framework, making use of AWS EC2 for file storage and MongoDB as the database. This web application will be integrated into the company's product.
2. Writing, modifying, integrating, and rigorously testing software code & continuously monitoring and assessing the program's performance after implementing changes to validate impact analysis results.
3. Collaborating on API integrations to enable faster and more efficient uploading of client data compared to conventional methods.
4. Designing and developing user-friendly GUIs or Desktop applications using Python to automate various client processes.
5. Managing version control using Git to track and collaborate on code changes effectively.

Saumitra has now transitioned to the core product team, as a Technical Consultant, where he focuses on expediting the data migration process through extensive backend scripting, using Python and JavaScript.
